

Atlanta

Fresh on the Scene: Biltong Bar, Marrakesh, Tom Tom, and JP Atlanta

Biltong Bar

Beef jerky and booze may not sound like much of a concept, but Justin Anthony (10 Degrees South, Cape Dutch) is attracting throngs of enthusiasts at his bar in Ponce City Market. Biltong—a South African snack of cured, air-dried meat—is spectacular and softer than typical gas station jerky. Order a sampler plate to figure out whether you like your beef biltong fat-on, fat-off, or encrusted with chile pepper. Don't miss the bobotie handpies (above) made with ground beef curry, or the cheesy popcorn. 675 Ponce de Leon Avenue, 678-515-0620