The Most Anticipated Atlanta Restaurant Openings of 2016

Food-Hall Finds

While 2015 was the year of the food hall in Atlanta, there's more to come, as both Ponce City Market and Krog Street Market welcome new tenants in the first quarter of 2016. In the former, we'll see the Moroccan Marrakesh Mediterranean Market, Biltong Bar serving booze and South Africa beef jerky and Boti (pictured below, from Chai Pani's owners) serving fare inspired by Indian street food. And we've been assured that Guy Wong's Ton Ton, serving ramen and sushi, is on track to open this year despite rumors to the contrary.
